

Supporting Clients Who Want to Return To Work After A Brain Injury?

We Can Help ...

Why You Need Us

- Many individuals with cognitive disabilities can be effective and successful professionals in the workplace when given the right organizational supports.
- Management skills are one of most important factors in successful employment outcomes.
- When the entire organization is sensitive on to how to work with people with cognitive disabilities, changes in staffing and management are less likely to cause a problem.
- We collaborate with vocational rehabilitation services to optimize work outcomes for people with cognitive disabilities through our training programs.

What We Do

Our consulting services can help vocational rehabilitation organizations and their business partners with:

- Training on how to create an inclusive workplace and facilitate communications around disability issues.
- Management skills to support long term employment and development of employees with cognitive disabilities.
- Guidance on accommodations.
- Implementing effective employee resource groups.
- Educational and motivational presenters.

Who We Are

- A team of skilled professionals with disability experience.
- Individuals accomplished in organizational development, management skills training, and Human Resources.
- An advisory team that includes combat veterans and other professionals living and working with cognitive disabilities.

For more information visit CognitiveCompass.Com/services or call us at 202.567.7120